NATIONAL NEWS

Submit Ideas for TAJ & Valuation Magazine

If you've ever considered submitting content ideas to The Appraisal Journal or Valuation magazine, here's how to go about it.

The Journal is especially interested in receiving manuscripts on banquet facilities/clubs/venues, market delineation, partial interests, timeshares, residential appraisal, recreational facilities, parking facilities and observable value impacts of energy efficient, green or sustainable features. Check out the Manuscript Guide on the website, or on page 89 of the Winter 2016 issue. As an added benefit, AI professionals receive continuing education credit for published articles.

Contribution ideas also are welcome for Valuation magazine's Front Lines section, specifically suggestions of AI professionals who are working in interesting or unusual areas, or on challenging assignments. The "For What It's Worth" column (formerly Face Value) needs recognized experts in a particular field, someone who had a remarkable achievement or is the only person who does something specific within the profession. Email ideas to Jay Schneider, jschneider@appraisalinstitute.org.

Call for Nominations for AI Awards

The Appraisal Institute would like to recognize some of its brightest, most committed and deserving members. If you know someone who fits the award criteria, please nominate them for either the Lifetime Achievement Award or the Outstanding Service Award. Submissions for both awards must be completed by May 27. Announcements of the awards will take place at the Appraisal Institute's Annual Conference this July in Charlotte, N.C.

A minimum of 20 years of service is recommended to be eligible for this award.

Outstanding Service: The Outstanding Service Award is presented to the individual who has contributed ideas, service hours and dedication to ensure a specific program or effort is implemented at either the chapter, region, national and/or international level(s). This Designated member must be instrumental to the success of the program or effort, which also must be far enough along to measure and provide proof of success. Additionally, the program or effort must be beneficial to chapters, regions, national, international, designated members, candidates, affiliates, practicing affiliates and/or the profession.
