Event Date: Friday, July 19, 2024

Release Date: July 09, 2024 at 10:06 AM

We're excited to share an exceptional opportunity that promises to enhance your teaching and writing skills within the real estate profession. On July 19, we are hosting a transformative training event right here in LVR Classroom C.

Schedule:

- Morning Session (9 AM - 12 PM): Train the Trainer
- Afternoon Session (1 PM - 4 PM): Writing Commercial Classes
What You'll Learn:

Curriculum Development: Dive deep into the art of designing curriculum that not only meets educational standards but also captivates and motivates your students. Learn how to craft lesson plans and materials that resonate with a diverse audience, ensuring a memorable and impactful learning experience.

Instructional Strategies: Uncover the secrets to delivering real estate classes that truly stand out. From enhancing your teaching techniques to fostering an interactive learning environment, this session will equip you with the tools to connect with your students and facilitate learning in the most effective way.

Why Choose Our Training?

- Expert Guidance: Gain invaluable insights from seasoned real estate educators and writers who bring a wealth of knowledge and expertise. Their understanding of industry trends and educational best practices will provide you with a solid foundation for your teaching and writing endeavors.
- Practical Application: Engage in hands-on exercises and real-world simulations that ensure you can put your new skills into practice right away. This approach guarantees a learning experience that is not only informative but also highly applicable to your real estate education goals.
